HISTORY OF ORGANIZATION.

The New York Branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was organized at a meeting of ladies called to assemble in the chapel of St. Paul's M. E. Church, on June 10, 1869. It was organized as auxiliary to a similar society previously formed in Boston, whose constitution it adopted, and elected a Board of officers, namely: President, Mrs. Rev. Wm. Butler, D.D.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Rev. George Lansing Taylor; Recording Secretary, Miss Helen F. Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. John Elliott.* A Board of Managers was also elected, comprising as far as possible two from each church in the city. Without delay the newly-formed society united its efforts with those of the Boston ladies to secure the necessary funds to send out two missionaries already appointed, Misses Clara Swain, M.D., and Isabella Thoburn, to India, and in September they departed for their distant and interesting field of labor.

Meanwhile a general form of organization was perfected, and in March, 1870, a constitution was adopted, simultaneously, in the cities where auxiliary societies had been already formed, making these co-ordinate Branches of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose authority was vested in an Executive Committee composed of delegates from each Branch. The adoption of this general form of organization marks the proper date of the New York Branch as such. The receipts of this Branch, for the first incomplete year, between the two dates foregoing, were $1,047.86

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT.

A YEAR has passed since we paused to recount the efforts and successes of our infant Society. We are brought to the close of the second year, and as we look over the field of our particular Branch we exclaim, How has the harvest grown! How has the love and zeal for the work deepened in the hearts where they first awaked and spread from heart to heart, and from church to church, until the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, by the blessing of God, goes forth conquering and to conquer! The discouragements of its first months are forgotten. Its agents are welcomed; the ministers encourage it; the Bishops commend it; the Secretaries of the Parent Board endorse it; the missionaries abroad send congratulations back to it, and the women of the church embrace it as their opportunity to work for Christ wherever presented.

We sent our delegates to the first annual meeting of the Executive Committee last May, followed by our prayers, and awaited anxiously the results of their deliberations. Our hearts were thrilled by the intelligence that so strong was their faith in the blessing of Providence that they had made appropriations for the year of $20,000.

Of this sum $6,000 was apportioned to be raised by the New York Branch, and, so far as we know, none said the mark was set too high. The summer months soon coming on, interrupted our monthly meetings; but the work did not cease meanwhile. The seed was sown in the villages and summer resorts, and at the camp-meetings. Large and deeply interesting meetings of the ladies were held, and thus a greater diffusion was ensured, so that at the first quarterly meeting held in September the sum of $3,694 was reported by the Treasurer. The most deeply interesting work of the autumn was the preparation for the departure of Miss Fanny Sparkes to India. She had been spending the summer since her acceptance in preparatory study, and her outfit and support was committed to the New York Branch. She left a position of considerable influence, as teacher in Binghamton,

N. Y., and was resigned to our charge with the warmest expressions of regret at her departure and appreciation of her eminent qualifications for the work of a missionary teacher. Her calm and intelligent spirit of consecration strengthened the assurance that her call and our selection was of God. It was cause of great thankfulness that our missionary, instead of going alone to her distant field, as did the two former laborers sent the previous year, was one of a most interesting company of six missionaries sailing for India.

The farewell meetings, held upon the eve of their departure, were thrilling in their interest. The first was a meeting of ladies, held in the South Second Street Church, Brooklyn, E. D., on the Sabbath afternoon before sailing, at which Mrs. Dr. Harris, President of the Brooklyn, E. D., Auxiliary, presided, and the meeting was addressed by Mrs. Dr. Butler and Mrs. Parker, after which Mrs. McMahon and Miss Sparkes gave a simple and very touching account of their irresistible call to the mission work, and their eagerness to enter upon its sacrifices. The next meeting was a general one, held in St. Paul's Church, Newark, N. J.; it was pronounced by all a most remarkable occasion of missionary enthusiasm. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Parker, McMahon, and Buck, and by Mrs. Parker, Mrs. McMahon, and Miss Sparkes, the band who were all to sail for India on the third day following.

The last of the trio of farewell meetings assembled in the chapel of St. Paul's, New York, where but fifteen months previous a handful of ladies had organized the New York Branch amid a mist of obscurities and uncertainties, in regard to everything but the crying need of some effort for the millions of their dark-browed sisters.

Many circumstances combined to make this a very interesting meeting. Mrs. Maclay presented the claims of China, Mrs. Parker recounted her experience in India and her joy at the prospect of returning, and a glimpse was gained of the toil and sacrifice in store for the two newly consecrated laborers who gave an account of their leading into the missionary work. Mrs. Butler gave the closing address, an appeal for the women of India.

A Hindostanee woman was present who spoke no English. Her native costume, including the jewels upon her arms and in her nose, and her utter look of a stranger in a strange land, made a very interesting feature of the occasion.

A liberal collation furnished by the ladies of St. Paul's Church, to the large number who had come from neighboring cities to attend the meeting, closed the exercises.

The next day the shores of their native land faded from the view of these heralds of salvation to a nation afar and in darkness. As they turned toward the eastern main for their life-work, so we returned to our labor in the same dear cause, resolved that our missionaries shall never have cause to feel, as the early toilers in that hostile field sometimes did,—"They have forgotten us at home,"—but that by constant words of cheer from us, and from the so much needed reinforcements to their work, they shall draw comfort and inspiration in their labor.

The New York Branch alone gathered more in her first incomplete year than the $823 which were the results of the first year's collections of the Parent Society, and at the close of this second year we find the total amount collected by our branch to be $8,336.38. To God be all the glory, while we joyfully feel that his seal is set to our humble labors for him.

Most of our noble band of auxiliaries have espoused the mission cause with great cheerfulness and earnestness. They have raised their funds in many ways; some have held fairs; some have had courses of lectures; some have mostly depended upon the monthly subscription plan, which is admirable in that it silently and steadily accumulates the funds and depends on no spasmodic efforts. By all lawful means let us gather for the treasury of the Lord.

The first offering laid at the infant Saviour's feet was gold, which seems now almost a prophetic indication that the treasures of the earth are to be his. And He, whose are the treasures of all worlds, chooses that from the toilsome gleanings of the fruits of self-denial shall come the means whereby the gospel shall be carried to the untaught heathen; yet, ah! how little dependent is Omnipotent love upon our poor struggling efforts. How can He put "ten thousand to flight" by two or one, and turn the hearts of the Gentiles to himself "a nation in a day!"

But how all walls fall down and all barriers fly open in these later days of missionary labor. The day when the souls of martyrs ascended in the smoke of their extreme suffering for Christ is past. The day when a missionary to India could be dragged in chains with bleeding feet and blistered flesh from one heathen magistrate to another, followed afar by his agonized wife with her dying infant in her arms, is, thank God, gone forever. And the exclamation of the immortal Judson is justified: "I know where final victory lies, though the struggle may be a long one."

The pean of victory already sounds back to us. The morning star rises in the east, and thousands sitting in night are beginning to ask whence is this brightness. When here and there a stone crumbles in those fortresses of heathenism—Caste and Infidelity—the time is not far off when these vast piles shall lie in undistinguishable ruin.

The time has been when our sex could have little part in the missionary work either at home or abroad, but now the door is open. The world seems open to woman in all its avenues of usefulness, enterprise, or profit, whether she seeks the professions, the boards of finance, the mercantile enterprises, all are free to her and her success is applauded. A brave-hearted woman has gone alone into the household of the king of Siam as a bearer of civilization—and thus of Christianity—to his harem, and has gained her point, albeit with sore difficulty. A sister society has sent a lady single-handed to found an orphanage in the same kingdom. We have sent two youthful laborers Misses Swain and Thoburn, unattended, across the Atlantic, from New York to Liverpool; from Liverpool to Suez; from Suez to Bombay; and from Bombay overland, by rail and dak, to Bareilly, where they are most promisingly opening up their work for Christ among India's daughters.

Why should not she, by whose first fault "came death into our world and all our woe," be eager to bring life for death? she to whom came first the heavenly promise, "the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head," be readiest to carry it wherever the serpent's sting has struck? She to whom came the first annunciation of the blessed "coming" be winged to carry the tidings to the ends of the earth? She who was permitted to shed the aroma of her love and tears with the costly ointment upon his feet, be first to carry the sweet offer of forgiveness of sins? She who was last at the cross, earliest at the tomb, who first beheld the risen Lord, be permitted to bear the message, "Go tell my disciples," the christian world, "and Peter," that is the apostate world—now missionary ground?

She has long waited at home, has poured out her soul in her prayers for her lost sisters upon whom has ever fallen the heaviest curse of heathenism; has wrestled for and seized the souls of her sons and consecrated and sent them out as her messengers. Now she goes herself. Sacrifice always grows. She who willingly, through grace, gave one of a beloved circle to carry the gospel afar, now tears herself from home, parents, brothers, sisters, all the sweet endearments of home; all the amenities of christian civilization, which woman appreciates so keenly, and turns not one repentant look backward. And what shall discourage her now, what obstacle shall stay her, what ignorance or obstinacy shall daunt her who has gone through the valley of the shadow of the death of all earthly ties for that name which is above every name?

The walls of seclusion melt before her; she winds her sympathies about those wronged and sorrowing ones; her woman's heart reads their secret trouble; she has learned where the balm is found and knows how to apply it; her superior knowledge ministers to their bodily sufferings so long borne in hopelessness, and it is her privilege to reach the fountain head of the social system where the salt of purification shall send its influence outward with powerful result.

How Godlike is the economy of grace, as of nature, that no effort exerted is ever lost; not a prayer, nor a sigh, nor a gift, however small, from a loving soul but shall help to swell that almighty power which is to lay the world with all its kingdoms and nations at Immanuel's feet. Let us then, dear sisters, freely offer our tears, our love, our prayers, our labors, ourselves, at the precious cross of our redeeming Lord.

"Our work shall still be better for our love,
And still our love be sweeter for our work."

THE MISSIONARY.

BY REV. NATHAN BROWN, D.D., OF ASSAM.

My soul is not at rest. There comes a strange
And secret whisper to my spirit, like
A dream of night, that tells me I am on Enchanted ground. Why live I here? The vows
Of God are on me, and I may not stop
To play with shadows, or pluck earthly flowers,
Till I my work have done, and rendered up
Account. The voice of my departed Lord,
"Go, teach all nations," from the eastern world,
Comes on the night air, and awakes my ear.

And I will go. I may no longer doubt
To give up all my friends and idol hopes,
And every tender tie that binds my heart
To thee, my country! Why should I regard
Earth's little store of borrowed sweets? I sure
Have had enough of bitter in my cup,
To show that never was it His design
Who placed me here, that I should live in ease,
Or drink at pleasure's fountain.

Henceforth then,—
It matters not if storm and sunshine be
My earthly lot,—bitter or sweet my cup,
I only pray, "God fit me for the work.
God make me holy, and my spirit nerve
For the stern hour of strife." Let me but know
There is an arm unseen that holds me up,
An eye that kindly watches all my path,
Till I my weary pilgrimage have done,—
Let me but know I have a friend that waits
To welcome me to glory,—and I joy
To tread the dark and death-fraught wilderness.

And when I come to stretch me for the last,
In unattended agony, beneath
The cocoa's shade, or lift my dying eyes
From Afric's burning sands, it will be sweet,
That I have toiled for other worlds than this.
I know that I shall feel happier, than to die
On softer bed. And if I should reach heaven,—
If one that has so deeply, darkly sinned,—
If one whom ruin and revolt have held
With such a fearful grasp,—if one for whom
Satan hath struggled as he hath for me,
Should reach that blessed shore,—Oh then,
This heart will glow with gratitude and love!
And through the ages of eternal years,
Thus saved, my spirit never shall repent
That toil and suffering once were mine below.

In Memoriam.

The New York Branch has been called to mourn the sudden death of one of its most efficient members of our Board of Managers and an indefatigable worker.

MARY,

THE WIFE OF L. DE LAMATER, ESQ.,

and daughter of JOHN STEPHENSON, Esq., has been called to her home and her reward in the skies. This daughter of one of the earnest supporters of the missionary cause, and wife of one who makes the interest of Christ's kingdom his work, was a lady of no common ability.

She delighted to devote her energies to the prosecution of every enterprise that looked to the saving of souls at home or abroad. For years she had loved to work and pray for China; and as soon as the purpose and aims of the "Woman's Foreign Missionary Society" became known to her, she entered into its work with all her heart, only ceasing when she ceased to live.

We deplore her loss; on us the calamity is heavy: but we know who has called the toiler to rest; and by faith we pierce the veil and see her welcomed by her sisters from INDIA, before the Throne, rejoicing in the progress of the dominion of Jesus over all the earth!

Sisters of the Church, let us, who remain, work while it is called day, for our night soon cometh. C. B.

THE WORK OF THE NEW YORK BRANCH.

The work in the India Mission to be sustained by the New York Branch may be noticed here.

A lady missionary, Miss Sparkes, who has given her life to the work amongst the women in India, has been sent out and will be supported by this Branch.

ORPHANAGE.

One-third of the expense of the Girls' Orphanage in Bareilly will be raised by this Branch.

The Orphanage is not only an asylum for destitute and forsaken orphan girls, who, but for its shelter, might be wanderers and outcasts, but it has already become a "garden of the Lord," where "plants of righteousness" are growing up to be useful and devoted laborers for Jesus Christ among their countrywomen. There they receive such an education, in the medical department as well as the normal, as will make them "furnished unto every good work."

Also girls' schools in Budaon, Bareilly, Shahjehanpore, Panahpore, and Khaira Bajira.

In Bareilly, nine years ago, it was found impossible to have a girls' school. Now there are two, and Mrs. Scott writes that she has had several applications for more to be opened. Mr. Johnson writes the same from Shahjehanpore.

In Panahpore (city of refuge) a number of women and children are together receiving a christian education. In this place a number of poor families are located, who have, by their adherence to Christianity, cut themselves off from any aid or employment from the heathen round them. For some time three destitute families will require help, which will be granted them, in the hope that here may be a christian community, an oasis in the moral desert, shining to the glory of Christ.

In Khaira Bajira there is a very interesting school, where the daughters and grand-daughters of the friendly Hindoos who, at the time of the mutiny, risked their lives to save the life of Major Gowan, an English officer who escaped from Bareilly, are receiving a christian training, which may yet fit them to be workers for the Saviour.

A number of Bible-women are also sustained. Many more are wanted, and it is hoped that hundreds of our churches will have their female membership represented by Bible-women, who will carry the Word of Life into every home of these districts.

CHINA.

In Foochow, China, a Bible-woman is sustained. Here, also, the work demands more help. The fields are white unto the harvest, and from homes in China, as in India, the cry is raised, "Come over and help us!"

The Secretary writes: "We had several very interesting meetings after our organization, and many of our ladies gave themselves to the work with a zeal that showed the interest that thrilled them when they heard of the degradation and dark idolatry of the millions of heathen women in India. In the month of September the ladies of St. Paul's held a Farewell Meeting on the occasion of the departure for India of Miss Sparkes, the missionary sent out by the New York Branch. At the close of the meeting about one hundred ladies from Newark, Williamsburgh, Brooklyn, Sing-Sing, etc., sat down to a repast provided by the ladies of St. Paul's.

[One of the most interesting items in the Treasurer's report for this auxiliary, is the nine hundred dollars the proceeds of the "Children's Fair" held by a few earnest young laborers in Mrs. Wright's parlors. What more beautiful influence could be brought to bear upon the minds and hearts of our daughters than to encourage them to organize work in this field, while the heathen will rejoice in the good they shall accomplish.]

The Corresponding Secretary writes thus: "We think our Society has aroused a missionary spirit in the ladies of our churches they never knew before, and they do not hesitate to say so.

"The first year of this Society's existence its members were from three churches only, but lately, in accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting of the Committee, two of our officers visited one of the other M. E. churches and laid the Society and its work before the sisters, who cordially responded, and managers were elected to obtain yearly subscriptions for the Society, and for the H. W. F. At our last meeting this church was well represented. It was then decided to continue this means of enlisting the interest in the other M. E. churches.

"The most effectual method we have found of advancing the cause, is the circulation of the 'Heathen Woman's Friend.' The monthly reading of this excellent Missionary paper gives a permanency to the work speeches alone could never effect; for it is a repetition of that which we have listened to with thrilling interest.

"We wish to notice the case of one little boy who saved his money to pay his subscription, $1. The H. W. F. taken by his mother is very dear to him.

"There seems to be almost a charm in this Society to awaken the sympathies of our sex. The speeches, too, of the returned Missionaries, delivered in our midst at the late Anniversary of the Parent Board, have aroused an intense interest in all Missionary work.

This church, which in the commencement of the mission to Africa manfested a zeal for the mission work in helping to send out Mrs. Wilkins, the heroic missionary, to the sable daughters of Eve on that continent, has shown that its great heart is still fixed with love for souls and for the salvation of women in still more distant heathen lands.

The general meeting given by the ladies of this church to Miss Swain and Miss Thoburn, the first missionaries sent out by the "Woman's Foreign Mission Society of the M. E. Church," was an evidence not only of deep interest in these devoted ladies, who, trusting only in the promise of the Master, were about to start alone on a journey to the lands of the East, that they might there point the women of India to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world; but will long be remembered in New York City as a season when the responsibility that rests on christian women was felt by many followers of the Lord Jesus.

In this and other ways, the ladies of the Bedford St. Church are trying to fulfill the Saviour's command: "Go (and send) ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature!"

ALBANY, N. Y.

The Corresponding Secretary writes:

"Agreeable to your request, I send you the Annual Report of the Albany Auxilary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church.

"In looking over the record of the past year—our first of missionary work for heathen women,—we cannot fail to see that the hand of God has guided us, and the blessing of the Highest has been upon our humble efforts.

"This Auxiliary was organized November 16, 1869, and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. A. H. NYE; Vice-President, Mrs. ROBINSON; Treasurer, Mrs. Rev. H. G. WATERS; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. T. H. MITCHELL; Rec. Secretary, Miss M. A. MCCLELLAND, and two Managers from each church.

"Since the organization of the Woman's Missionary Society in the M. E. Church, three ladies have been sent by it as Missionaries to India. One of these Miss Fanny Sparkes of Binghamton, will labor as the representative of the Methodist ladies of Albany, as we have pledged ourselves to sustain her. For this purpose we pray and labor. It seems only fitting that the first missionary sent by the New York Branch should be supported by the Capital of the Empire State.

"In addition to this, the children of one of the Sabbath Schools have engaged to contribute $30 per annum to maintain a girl in the Orphanage in Bareilly. It is their hope that this child may live to become a Bible-woman and teacher among her dark and ignorant heathen countrywomen.

"Our first annual meeting was held November 31; it was presided over by the Presiding Elder of this district. The pastors of the several M. E. churches were present; the meeting was an occasion of great interest.

"A Children's Fair has been held lately, and over $300 raised by these young laborers in the vineyard, whose hearts feel for the wretchedness and perishing condition of the millions of heathen girls in India.

"We realize that there is an increase of zeal and sympathy in this work, and are encouraged for the future; hoping, with the divine blessing, to do much more in this way for the glory of Christ and the salvation of heathen women.

The Corresponding Secretary writes, under date of December 5:

"Each successive meeting reports new members. We have held a Fair in our church parlors; It was very pleasant and successful, realizing $150 over expenses; this, when we consider,that nothing of a lottery or raffle was allowed, and that there were similar interests being carried on in several churches at the same time, was to us very encouraging. The proceeds of this Fair, with what has been raised since our organization, amounts to $209.

"The Church at Binghamton takes a deep interest in the work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, having given one of its members, Miss Fannie J. Sparkes, to be a messenger from the women of Methodism in America to heathen women in India. Not only has Miss Sparkes gone out from them followed by their prayers and tears, but they have bestowed substantial tokens on her in proof of their appreciation of her devotedness. They have brought 'the tithes into the storehouse,' giving of the best of the flock, and of that which was more precious than silver or gold—one of the most promising of the daughters of the Church, and laid her on the altar. May the 'windows of heaven' be opened to them, and the 'Lord of Hosts' pour out such blessings on them, 'that there shall shall not be room enough to receive.'

The Corresponding Secretary writes: "I think there has been an increase of interest in the Society on the part of both officers and members during the last quarter. We held a public meeting in the Seneca Street Church. It was, with other exercises, addressed by Brother and Sister Judd. There was a large and attentive audience, who with much apparent interest questioned Brother Judd in reference to many things connected with life in India, thereby bringing out many pleasing items. Brother Judd pronounced it one of the most interesting meetings he had attended.

"We have hitherto adopted no plan for raising money except by securing members, but propose to add some other means during the winter to enlist our young people in this work. I have never known a season when the general missionary interest was so great amongst the community as now, and we trace much of it to the work of the Woman's Missionary Society."

The Corresponding Secretary writes in hopeful strains of the future of this auxiliary. Its officers have been zealously laboring, not only in Auburn, but in adjacent places, and at many of the camp meetings in the surrounding districts. A missionary spirit has been aroused, and an enthusiasm in the work of this society has been created, which will, it is trusted, show fruit to the glory of God, and make Auburn a centre for missionary influence that will largely extend through western New York.

The "Heathen Woman's Friend" has been widely circulated, and is increasing the interest in this work of Christian women for heathen women.

The ladies of the M. E. Church, in Weedsport, have taken a deep interest in the missionary work in India, since the departure, some years ago, of one of their members, Mrs. Messmore, to labor for the salvation of Hindoo women.

They now show their sympathy with the aims of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, by not only exerting their influence to have a large and efficient auxiliary, but the officers of the society have visited many of the churches in the vicinity; and in them, as well as at many of the camp meetings, they, with one of the mothers in Israel at their head, have earnestly called on the women who love Christ to show their devotion by sending the message of the gospel to those who, in the darkened homes of India, sit hopeless and helpless.

They have been successful, too, in holding tea meetings and other social gatherings, where some of our eminent pastors have testified to the public generally that this Woman's Missionary Society aims at a noble work for Christ.

The Corresponding Secretary writes, under date of December 3, 1870:

"We have 28 subscribers to H. W. F.

"We are in the midst of a very gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit, and so overwhelming has been the interest in it, we have been unable, lately, to hold our usual meetings, but we know all this will further the work, and add to the Lord's Treasury, both in prayers and money."

[Speaking of the Genesee College and Female Seminary, the H. W. F. for August says:—

"These noble institutions in Lima sent their sons and daughters to various mission fields, to proclaim the salvation of God; and the same spirit still exists. God is touching many hearts here with the missionary fire. May it never die out, but rather burn effectually, till the fall blaze of the glory that is to be revealed covers the whole earth, and the Saviour who is loved and honored in Lima shall be loved and honored in every tribe and nation."

The record of the sister institution at Cazenovia is equally interesting:

"It has sent our sainted missionary ladies, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Downey (afterwards Mrs. Thoburn), to far-off India, to be a blessing to its sons and daughters—women whose records can never be fully written here, but whose works will 'follow them' as one generation of Hindoo women after another shall be brought to enjoy the salvation of which they were partakers."

The Corresponding Secretary of this Society (Cazenovia) writes:—"I will mention one touching incident that occurred here at the time we organized. A mother was about to subscribe a dollar, when she discovered her, little daughter weeping. On inquiring the cause, she expressed, in faltering words, her sympathy for the 'poor heathen girls,' and requested that the money for the new dress her mother had promised her might be given for them which her mother did. She gave up the dress without a regretful word."]

[Rhinebeck is noted in the annals of Methodism as having been the home of that devoted servant of God and home missionary, the Rev. Freebonn Garrettson, and, since his death, the home of the tried friend of Methodist ministers, Miss M. Garrettson. Miss G. inherits the missionary zeal of her honored father, and now, before she enters the land of Beulah, she is burning afresh the fire on the altar, and inciting her sisters in the churches round her to put forth efforts for the perishing women of India; to do something to lift them up out of their moral degradation; to show them the way to the fountain opened for sin and uncleanness, so that woman in her humble home in India may enjoy the same salvation and the same purity of character which can adorn a home on the ovely banks of the Hudson, and make it seem to be on the border of the better land.]

[The ladies of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society in Passaic have shown that while they deeply sympathize with the perishing millions of heathen women in India, and have put forth noble efforts to raise money to send christian lady missionaries to them, they have not neglected the regular missionary interest of the Parent Board. OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

ARTICLE I.

This Association shall be called "THE WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH."

ARTICLE II.—PURPOSE.

The purpose of this Society is to engage and unite the efforts of Christian women in sending female missionaries to women in the foreign mission fields of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in supporting them and native Christian teachers and Bible readers in those fields.

ARTICLE III.—MEMBERSHIP.

The payment of one dollar annually shall constitute membership and twenty dollars life membership. Any person paying one hundred dollars shall become an Honorary Manager for life, and the contribution of three hundred dollars shall constitute the donor an Honorary Patron for life.

ARTICLE IV.—ORGANIZATION.

The organization of this Society shall consist of a General Executive Committee, Branch and Auxiliary Societies, to be constituted and limited as laid down in subsequent articles.

ARTICLE V.—GENERAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

SEC. 1. The management and general administration of the affairs of the Society shall be vested in a General Executive Committee, consisting of the Corresponding Secretaries of the Branch Societies and two delegates from each Branch, which delegates, together with two reserves, shall be elected at the last quarterly meeting before the annual meeting of the General Executive Committee; said Committee shall meet at Boston the third Wednesday in April, 1870, and annually, or oftener, thereafter at such time and place as the General Executive Committee shall determine.

SEC. 2. The duties of the General Executive Committee shall be—

1. To receive the Reports of the several Treasurers, and ascertain from them the financial condition of the Society, and to appropriate moneys found in the several treasuries in such ways as shall be deemed best in accordance with the purposes and methods herein indicated.

2. To take into consideration the interests and demands of the entire work of the Society, including the employment of new missionaries, and the designation of their fields of labor, and to devise means for carrying it forward, fixing the amount necessary to be raised, and arranging with the Branch Societies as to the number of missionaries to be supported, and the work to be undertaken by each Branch.

3. To appoint a committee, consisting of one from each Branch Society, to have charge of the missionary paper of the Society, and to arrange with the Corresponding Secretaries for the publication of an Annual Report of the work of the Society.

4. To transact any other business that the interests of the Society may demand. Provided, nevertheless, that all the plans and directions of the Committee shall be in harmony with the provisions of this Constitution.
